Local News

Billy Douglas and Craig Taylor paid Carbon their usual seasonable visit last week. You can always tell when they have been on the job when you see all the gasoline drums in front of the Farmers Exchange, scattered all over Main Street. As Barrel Balancers we must all admit, these two boys, are surely proficient.

Quite an innovation was pulled off in the advertising line last week, for one morning we noticed a Bath, hung on the "Baths" sign on front of Harry Thorburn's pool room. We consider that was a really novel way to advertise and we give somebody heaps of credit.

Gee, but we sure wish that some enterprising hardware traveller would sell Frank Wilson a really reliable clock so Frank will know when it's quitting. As one of the fathers of the early closing idea, we think Frank sets a very poor example.

Considerable commotion was heard over in Suburbia a few nights ago, when a few of our local celebrities suddenly discovered they had run out of Gas. What do they think, that the quiet homeloving residents of Church Street, have borrowed one of the Medicine Hat Gas wells, or was it talking gas that they needed.

"The Lord be merciful to the Scotch." Poor old Jim Fraser, one of the lessees of the Fuller Mine had the sad misfortune to have his wee hoose burnt down, one night last week. It is rumoured that Jimmie found it necessary to take to his dug-out until reinforcements of clothes arrived.

Jimmie had a wee hoose,
Fornt old Fuller's Mine,
A Fire it came along yin day
Noo, Jim does naught, but Pine.

We would like to advise Charlie Gardener that a raw beef-steak properly applied to the point of contact, will absolutely reduce his features to their former impassiveness.

This village Herd law seems to be quite a standing joke. The way it stands now it is neither here nor there. Our advise to the Council is to quit fooling us poor villagers, and enforce the thing or else drop it altogether.

We were disturbed from our peaceful slumbers a few nights ago, by the rumbling of a waggon, and on peeping through the window, we noticed the C. C. C. (A definition of these three letters will appear in next weeks edition) putting one of the new 1921, By-laws into effect. We would like to advise the Scavenger that it is not necessary to take away the residents receptacle, as they can be used twice at least.

A two wheeled waggon,
Wends its way,
Along our many alleys,
The Durksen kids they do their worst,
Without Fear or fun or Malice.

On going to press we suddenly learn that Bill Braisher has suddenly become the proud possessor of a "Tin Lizzie". Any person wishing to give Bill any inside stuff on navigating a Ford will be welcome at any time.

The Country Life Problem

Not long ago, says a writer in the "Problems of Democracy" department of The Literary Digest, a well-known traveler and writer was being shown through the immense Capitol building of a Middle-Western State. "Just see the great army of officials we employ," said his guide, "every man of them was born on a farm." And then the visitor was shown through a quarter of the city where "you can go a mile and see only the homes of retired farmers." Quoth the guide, "This is a wonderful farming State."

Yet, comments the Literary Digest writer, the boys on its farms dream of jobs in town, and old folks on its farms dream of homes in town, and, as soon as they can arrange it, hire somebody else to run the farm, and move away. In less "wonderful" farming States, meanwhile, you occasionally see farms abandoned outright, but even the custom of farming by proxy is deplorable.

In "The Country Life Movement," Mr. L. H. Bailey observes, "Farming by proxy or by any absentee method is as disastrous in the long run as the doing of any other business by proxy. I hold that it is essential that the very best people live actually on the land. The crops are there. The livestock is there. The machinery is there. All the investment is in the place itself. If this business is to be most effective, a good man must be constantly with it and manage it. A farm is not like a store or a factory that is shut up at night and on Sunday. The more difficult and complex the farming business becomes, the greater will be the necessity that a good man remain with it."

"The fundamental need," declares Mr. Bailey, "is to place effectively educated men and women in the open country." In his opinion all else depends on this. No formal means can be of any permanent avail until men and women of vision and with trained minds are at hand to work out the plans in an orderly way. Agriculture is now a school subject. It is recognized to be such in the schools course of studies, in the minds of the people, and of educationists and legislators. It has found its way into the high schools. In Western Canada it is the outstanding department in our Universities.

But do the young people thus trained return to the open country? Some of them, of course, but a lamentably small percentage of the total. Why not a larger number? Does farming pay? Is life in the open country attractive? Farming has its off years, and sometimes series of years, when the financial returns are not commensurate with the effort put forth. But the same thing is true of business generally. And assuredly farming today pays better than in the days of our grandparents. There are still many hardships in the more remote and pioneer districts, and conditions generally may not be quite so favorable as in the years before the war, but neither are conditions in the cities as favorable, with thousands of men out of employment. Such a situation is, however, only temporary; it will be overcome both in city and country.

Life in the open country is not as attractive as it should be for other reasons. The recreative life of the country community greatly needs to be stimulated. Not only games and recreation days need to be encouraged, but the spirit of relief from continuous and deadening toil must be encouraged. The country population needs to be livened up.

How is this awakening to be brought about? The small towns and villages, which are the real centres of all country districts, and whose very existence depends upon their surrounding farming communities, have a duty and an opportunity in this respect. In his admirable book, "The Little Town," Mr. H. P. Douglass devotes a chapter to "The Town's Country." Says Mr. Douglass, "The town's country is the area which trades with it; which makes common cause with it in buying and selling, in credit and transportation facilities." Its typical functionaries are the retail merchant, the banker, the postmaster, the doctor, the implement agent, the railway agent.

Moreover, the town's country is the area which comes to it for play, education and worship. Here are the country's moving pictures, its exhibition and sports grounds, and its Chautauquas. The country's high schools are here, and most of its ministers of religion live here. Here, though the farmer may not directly share in them, are those social groups and activities which he imitates and possibly envies. Most of the social organizations to which he may belong centre here.

Therefore, the small town has a duty to its own particular "country." And the opportunity is as great as the duty. Among the chief needs of the farming community today is wholesome recreation. There is little community life in the open country, except what centres in the small towns and villages. Its lack constitutes what one man has called "the intolerable condition of country life." In almost every other respect, life in the open country has improved. It is a less isolated life. Railways, telephones, automobiles have greatly relieved loneliness. But is it a jollier life? No one pretends that it is. There is no play for children; no recreation for the young folks. Yet it must be made jollier or we shall see more and more farms abandoned or farmed by proxy and more and more farm people moving to the city.

If we are to "place effectively educated men and women in the open country," men and women "of vision and with trained minds"—if we are to place them there and keep them there, we must promise them not only prosperity, but a jovial, sociable, merry existence which they will honestly prefer to life in town.

Necessary That Canada Should Grow

Nation Must Have Men, But Not Undesirable Ones.

Both war debt and the railway situation require that Canada must grow, in the opinion of the Journal of the Canadian Bankers' Association, which says that to grow up to these we must "people the vacant spaces." However rigorous the United States may be in immigration regulations, due to the fact that they are approaching the saturation point, Canada's policy, the Journal states, can well afford to differ from that of her neighbor.

"It is well to remember," the Journal adds, "that a prosperous and advancing country has a greater digestion capacity than a stagnating country. Let us winnow out individual undesirables, . . . but men we must have. Not least, we must seek to keep our own sons from drifting southward."

IS YOUR STOMACH SOUR? DO YOU BELCH GAS?

If you have sour risings from the stomach, feel bloated and uncomfortable, just try twenty drops of Nerviline in sweetened water. Relief will come quick. Nerviline dispels the gas, sweetens the stomach, makes you fit and fine in a few minutes. As a general household remedy for many of the ills that constantly turn up, nothing is more useful in every home than a 35 cent bottle of good old "Nerviline."

More than one-third of the children in Egypt die before the age of five years.

Heart Weak, Nerves Shattered After the "Flu."

In a large majority of cases those who survived the last epidemic of Spanish influenza were left with weak hearts, shattered nerves, impoverished blood, and the whole system has been left in such a general weakened and exhausted condition that it has been impossible to get back your old health and strength.

If you are in this condition there is only one thing to do; take a course of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and see how quickly your heart will be strengthened, your nerves toned up and your blood enriched.

Mrs. W. W. Pearce, 14 Seaton St., Toronto, Ont., writes: "I was left with a weak heart and in a rundown condition from the 'flu.' My nerves were badly shattered, and I had such pains in my heart I could not sleep much at night. I took several doctors' medicines without getting any better. My husband got me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after I took one box I got relief; after taking six boxes have been well and not bothered since."

Burbank's Latest

Has Evolved New Wheat Which Is Exceedingly Early.

After experiments extending over eleven years, Luther Burbank, the great Californian horticulturist, is said to have evolved a "quality" wheat, containing over fourteen per cent. gluten, an astonishing improvement in this grain. The new type of wheat has a very large white, flinty kernel and produces a very white flour.

The new wheat, according to Mr. Burbank, is an exceedingly early wheat, being the earliest of some four or five hundred varieties which he has been growing. It has been tested alongside sixty-eight of the best wheats in the world, and has exceeded them all in yield, uniformity and all other desirable characteristics. The growth is strong, being four feet on good ordinary soil, it tillers unusually well, and on ordinary valley soil, with special cultivation, care, or fertilizing, produced this summer at the rate of 49.88 bushels per acre, every plant and every kernel being uniform, as this wheat was originally grown from one single kernel.

She Feels As Fine As A Growing Girl, Says This Winnipeg Woman

"My heart goes out to anyone suffering from indigestion and nervousness, and I want to tell them all about this grand Tanlac, for it is the medicine that relieved me of these troubles and restored my health," said Mrs. S. Jackson, wife of a prominent business man residing at 429 Agnes St., Winnipeg.

"Before I got Tanlac I was in a dreadfully nervous condition. I couldn't stand the least little noise, and at times I became so upset I was afraid I would go into hysterics. My appetite was so poor I had no desire to eat, and couldn't relish my meals at all. My food didn't digest properly, and I was in a badly rundown condition. My sleep was restless and broken, and I felt miserable all the time.

"Well, Tanlac has rid me of all my troubles and put me in such fine health I feel as fine as when I was a growing girl. I eat good and hearty and enjoy my meals, and never have a care or worry. Why, I feel as fine as anybody could want to feel, and I can't help but be delighted and enthusiastic over this wonderful Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

SIMPLICITY

Never was so much efficiency combined so skillfully with extreme simplicity. That is why the Ford is called a marvel of engineering skill.

Simple in design—anyone can quickly understand all running parts of a Ford. Simple in construction—and every part a bulwark of strength.

Simple in operation—anyone can run a Ford.

Simple to maintain—no skill required to care for it.

Yet in spite of this simplicity look at the performance of the car! The worst roads in this part of the country are smooth as compared with those that the Ford negotiates daily in other parts of the world.

Engineering skill has combined the wonderful endurance power of the Ford with light weight. It weighs several hundred pounds less than the ordinary car of equal power and carrying capacity.

Light weight means no loss of strength. Every wearing and strain bearing part is made of Ford vanadium steel, made according to special Ford formula, and infinitely stronger than ordinary steel.

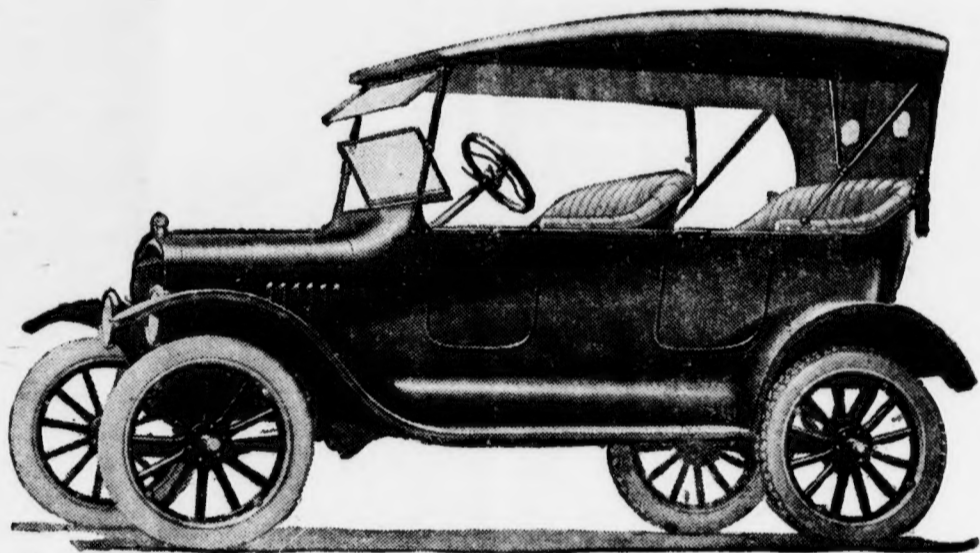

Engineering skill has put into the Ford these miracles of utility, efficiency and endurance at the lowest cost. Light weight means economy in manufacture, and reduces wear and tear on tires.

Ford owners not only enjoy a car of unequalled efficiency at lowest cost but they have fewest expenses with tires and other troubles.

When your Ford needs attention we render Ford service. No waiting for genuine Ford parts or for expert mechanics to make repairs. Our stock of genuine Ford parts is kept complete.

The Lamp In The Window

By Frank Wall

It was just a little cottage, standing in a corner of what had once been old John Humphreys' farm. John Humphreys was dead and the farm had been merged long ago in the magnificent grounds of the house built by some unknown millionaire on the crest of the hill.

There were all kinds of rumors about that house, but the only facts were that no one had ever seen the owner or had even heard his name. The house, a palace in white with broad terraces and smooth sloping lawns, was exquisitely furnished; but only the caretaker and the scrub-woman enjoyed its perfections. Day by day and year by year it stood there, drowsing in the warm sunshine, and at night the moon played quaintly about its white walls and cast long slanting shadows across the lawns; and that was the only sign of life there for almost twenty years.

The little cottage stood near the road and was occupied by old John Humphreys' son. He kept himself aloof from his neighbors and was not very popular. They said he had no social ability, no human feelings, and perhaps they were right. Ordinarily his face was like a mask, but when sunset came and he placed his little lamp in the window overlooking the road, it softened into an extraordinary tenderness. If the neighbors could have seen him then, they might have changed their opinion of him.

And this had gone on for nearly twenty years. Every night he lighted the little lamp and when he had lighted it he sat by the window watching and watching and watching for someone who never came.

Sometimes there were noisy parties who had motored down from New York, which was only fifty miles away, and they would come and ask for something to eat. He gave them the best he had, and then he would go back to his corner and stare down the unanswered road.

One night a furious storm broke over that part of the country. The rain came down in torrents and the vivid flashes of lightning made the big house on the hill appear even more impressive and beautiful. After he had lighted his little lamp, he stood watching the storm, and it was while he was so occupied that he saw an automobile toiling painfully up the steep slope of the road. It came to a standstill opposite the cottage and half a dozen people alighted and hurried up the little path.

They were all young except one, a very beautiful woman of about forty years of age. The others addressed her as Madame Lesia, and the cottage, er, sitting quietly in his corner, recalled her name as that of a great singer who, after years of struggle, had recently taken New York by storm. They were all artists of one kind or another, full of wild spirits, mocking every convention; and the one they called Madame Lesia was the wildest of them all. Yet there was this difference: that her wildness seemed to be forced. It was as though it struggled all the time with some deeper feeling, as though some secret fiber of her heart had been touched and she wished to hide it.

"Let us ask Madame Lesia," cried one in the midst of a furious argument; and the singer turned smilingly. "Jack Mountford says that if he were married he would sacrifice even his wife's happiness to his art, if need be; that art is supreme."

"And you, Helen?" The girl laughed vivaciously and yet with an undercurrent of sadness. "I don't know," she murmured, "I want to be famous but I want to be happy too. Is it not possible to be both, Madame?"

The singer was staring at a photograph that stood on a side-table. It was a girl of perhaps twenty-three or twenty-four years of age, dressed in some cheap material, obviously village-made, but one scarcely noticed that for the transfiguring happiness that shone in her face.

"Do you see that girl?" she said quietly. "Do you notice how plainly she is dressed? And that cheap little wedding ring at which she is staring so intently? That girl isn't famous and yet she looks happy. And I," she added, as though speaking to herself, "I am what you call famous, but I am not happy."

The cottager had left his corner by the window, as though drawn by the sadness in the singer's voice. "That is my wife," he said hoarsely. "We lived near here, but the lure of New York crept like a poison into her veins. She thought she could become famous and she left me."

"Some day perhaps . . ." said the singer softly.

"Every night I light my little lamp in the window and watch for her return," said the man passionately. "Always I hope that she will come back to the simple happiness she cast aside for the glitter you call fame."

Madame Lesia rose suddenly. "We all hope so," she said earnestly. "See, my friends, the storm is over. Who will prepare the car for the journey back?"

The young men of the party raced out all at once and the girls followed a moment later. Madame Lesia turned to the cottager. Her eyes were shining. "They told me you had gone abroad," she said.

The man lifted his hands in a gesture of despair. "For twenty years I have waited here," he said. "And now . . . you have come back, but you are famous. This humble life will appeal to you less than ever."

"I want you," she whispered, "that is all I care about. I would have spoken as soon as I saw you, but I was afraid. And as for the fame you speak of . . . it means nothing to me now."

Her companions were calling her. The man went to the window and took down the little lamp he had tended so faithfully.

"It is for you to decide," he said solemnly. "God knows I want you, but there is no bitterness in my heart now. If you decide to go back to your great world I will put out this light and there is an end of all my hopes."

The others were at the door now, and she went and stood by her husband. "This is how I answer that question, Helen," she said to the girl. "I left my husband twenty years ago. I have tasted all that fame can offer and now I come back home. You must go on to New York without me. This cottage is my home."

"No," cried the man in a ringing voice. "I have something else to say. You tired of me because you said I wasted too much time on that invention I was working on. Well, I justified my ambition as you justified yours." He went across the room and pulled aside the curtain, showing the big house on the crest of the hill, glorious in the moonlight. "That is the result of my invention," he cried. "That is the home to which you have come back."

Not the Ireland of History

According to Government Murders Are Committed by Imported Gunmen.

The dragging of a woman out of her humble home in the dead of night and shooting her to death, heedless of her pitiful appeals for mercy, and riddling her poor body with bullets under the open sky—surely this is not Ireland! Certainly, it is not the Ireland of history, in whose pages we find chivalry and tenderness and pity and gallant service rendered to worthy causes by a high-spirited race, who thrill to what is high and poetic, and find a catch in the throat for all things lovely and exalted.

The Government must be right; and the murders which suffuse the cheek with shame are committed by gangs of ruffians who have been prime scoundrels for whom the sacredness of human life does not exist and who will kill for wages, without compunction or remorse. It must be so, for it is incredible that any Irishman would commit the ineffable crime of murdering a helpless woman, whose appeal for mercy could not be withstood by the fiercest savages.

Tile Plant For Winnipeg.

Plans for the erection this fall, or early next spring, of the first unit of a brick tile and glazed tile manufacturing plant in Winnipeg are now completed, according to C. L. Thompson, manager of the Martin Engineering Company, of Niagara Falls, Ontario. The first unit will have a capacity of 20,000,000 face brick a year. Deposits of clay used in the manufacture of red buff face brick are known to exist in close proximity to the city.

A Matter Of Sense.

Cardinal Bourne is quite clear that there can be no complete separation of Ireland and England. He does not believe that the Irish want it. For this is a matter, not so much of sentiment, but of sense. Ireland cannot live without Great Britain, and from the standpoint of national defense it may be said that Great Britain cannot live without Ireland. HON. T. A. CRERAR SAYS GET WILD LANDS LISTED

Leader of National Progressive Party Endorses Principle of Legislation Requested by Western Canada Colonization Association and Its Multitude of Supporters Throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Hon. T. A. Crerar's statement reads: "The proposal of the Western Canada Colonization Association that an inventory of unoccupied land be taken under Governmental auspices in the prairie provinces, and that the owners of such land should be obliged to fix a price at which they would sell to incoming settlers, is, I think, an excellent one. The fact that the price so fixed would be made the value for assessment of the special Wild Lands Tax would keep the owner of the land down to a price that was reasonably fair. Land speculation, and for that matter speculation in other natural resources, has been one of the worst evils this country has suffered from.

It is generally agreed that Canada needs more people but an immigration policy can only have permanent success if the people who are already living here are relieved of the artificial handicaps under which they have labored in the past, of which these speculations in land is one. The more people that come into the country the higher the land speculator raises the price. In the best interests therefore of the people of Canada the proposal that land held out of use should be made available for those who want to use it is sound and deserves the support of all good Canadian citizens. This step is in line with what the organized farmers of Western Canada have advocated for many years."

Canada To See

"All Star" Football

Tour of Scottish Team is Creating Wildest Enthusiasm.

When the officers and members of the Scottish All-Star football team arrive in Halifax on May 18th, the desire of all Canadian football men to have an Old Country professional, first-class team of players come to this country, will be replete.

The Dominion Football Association, through President Dan MacNeil and Secretary-Treasurer D. W. Roy, have completed final arrangements after several month's efforts and development, and are now on their way to the Atlantic seaboard to welcome the party on behalf of the Association which they represent.

The party of sixteen players, who have been chosen for this long deferred missionary football enterprise to cement the ties of the Empire and bind Canada and Scotland closer in the bonds of sport and brotherhood, left Glasgow, May 10, and will sail from Liverpool on the Cunard liner, S.S. Cameronia. Upon their arrival in Canada, the Canadian National Railways will take charge of transporting the party to the Pacific coast and return. In order that games may be played in the principal cities in Canada and as the tour is a missionary effort for the sake of sport, fostered in an Imperial spirit, for the good of our Dominion, making the enterprise "National," it was only fitting that the National systems should be utilized. This railway is bending every effort to make the tour a pleasant one for the visitors and special facilities will be placed at their disposal by the National line.

The forthcoming tour is creating the wildest enthusiasm in Canada and in addition to the matches played here, the programme will include four games in the chief cities in the States. Matches in Canada will be played at Halifax on May 18th; Montreal, May 24th; Ottawa, May 21st; Hamilton, May 26th; Toronto, May 28th; Fort William-Port Arthur, June 1st; Winnipeg, June 4th; Regina, June 6th; Saskatoon, June 8th; Calgary, June 11th; Edmonton, June 14th; Vancouver, June 18th. On the return trip, they will play at Prince Albert on June 28th; Winnipeg, July 1st; Toronto, July 6th; International game at Montreal on July 9th. The four games in the chief cities in the United States will be played between 9th and 26th.

The officials taking part in this patriotic football mission include Col. J. B. Wilson, V.D., chairman of the Third Lanark Club; Andrew Mitchell and Thomas Sloan, two of the directors; and Mr. Connell, who is manager of the undertaking. The lineup and personnel of the team is:—

Craig Brown.—Centre half-back of the Motherwell club, who came into the team when Cringan, the Celtic star, was forced to withdraw. Is credited with being a "team in himself" by Old Country experts, and is certain to make a lasting impression.

John Marshall.—One of the two players from English clubs, expected to tour with the Scottish team. Plays for Middlesborough, and is credited by "Bedouin" as being the greatest right back of modern times. Starred in recent international.

James E. Gordon.—Captained Scotland's team on several occasions. Formerly starred for Rangers but has been performing for Dumbfries Athletic during the current season. Probably, the most versatile player in Britain. Starred in recent international.

Alex Bennett.—Albion Rovers, one of the finest and neatest dribblers playing the game in Scotland. Made his great reputation while a member of the Glasgow Rangers, and should delight Canadian soccer fans.

Alex Troup.—Dundee youngster, who has been the sensation of the football season. He has been the star performer for the Dens Park outfit, but reached the pinnacle of fame when he featured a recent international game. Is "slippery as an eel."

Jimmy Quinn.—On retired list. Gained fame as centre forward for Celtic and Scotland. Of the aggressive, bustling type, he packed a wicked shot. Probably the best centre Scotland has produced. May play here occasionally.

James McMenemy.—The dandy little inside winger, who contributed much to the success of Partick Thistle in the recent Scottish Cup series. Formerly played for Celtic, and was frequently capped for Scotland. Known as the "Napoleon of Football."

Paddy Crossan.—No Scottish team would be complete without one member from Edinburgh. "Auld Reekie's" representative is Paddy Crossan, a back of the first water, rugged as he looks, but a veritable stone wall in the pinch. Possesses a powerful kick.

Alex McNair.—Veteran right back of the Glasgow Celtic, hero of many international battles and considered one of the "brainiest" defence men playing the game in the Old Country. Of the "old war-horse variety." Never beaten!

Jimmy Brownlie.—Famous goalkeeper, who can be classed as a veteran. Has been faithful custodian for Third Lanark for many years, and has seen much service in international matches. One of the best exponents of last-line defence in the world—"Daddy of them all."

Coal Problem One Of Transportation

Canada's Manufacturing Industries Far Removed From Coal Supply.

Ottawa.—Canada has immense supplies of coal in both eastern and western fields, but 70 per cent. of her manufacturing industries are located in Ontario and Quebec, where no coal is produced. Therefore the difficulty becomes one largely of transportation. This was the evidence given to the special House Committee on fuel resources by Joseph G. Hudon, of the Department of Mines.

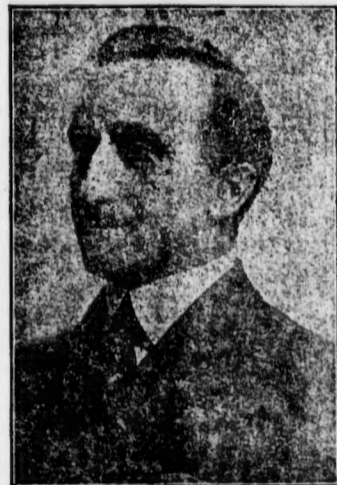

Mr. Hudon declared that at Sheep Creek, Alberta, there was a large deposit of coal almost equal to anthracite.

London.—A despatch to the London Times from Helsingfors says it has been learned that a telegram was sent to Maxim Litvinoff, the Russian Soviet chief of legations aboard, March 29, which establishes "the existence of a Bolshevik organization in Dublin engaged in fostering the Irish Republican movement." This telegram, according to the correspondent, said: "It is of the greatest importance that the 'germ cell' in Dublin should get 50,000 pounds through Krassin." (Krassin is the Soviet Minister of Trade and Commerce.)

Oppeln, Upper Silesia.—The inter-allied commission has issued a proclamation to the people of Upper Silesia saying: "The allied powers are fully agreed in condemning the disturbances in Upper Silesia. These events will not influence the allies' decisions. In due time the allies will give a decision in the Upper Silesian question based solely on the results of the vote and the treaty of peace."

Swiss Expel Foreigners

Unemployment and High Food Prices Given As Reason.

Berne.—Many Dutch newspaper correspondents in Berne and other Swiss cities have been ordered by the Government to leave Switzerland, "their stay no longer being considered necessary."

The Dutch ambassador has vigorously protested against this measure. Switzerland's financial condition, unemployment, and above all, the high prices of food, may well have caused this surprising order, many Swiss being of opinion that the influx of foreigners should be stopped by all means.

Trail Ore Tonnage Increases

Business Shows Big Lead Over Last Year's Figures.

Nelson, B.C.—A 50 per cent. lead over last year's figures in tonnage of ore received so far this year is the record achieved by the Trail Smelter, whose margin over the 1920 figures passed the 50,000 ton mark the week just passed. To date 149,677 tons have been received against 89,741 one year ago. The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company's own properties produced 147,579 tons of this.

Belgian King to Visit England.

London.—It was officially announced that Albert, King of the Belgians, would pay a visit of state to England early in July. The visit will begin July 4 and end on July 8.

To Vote on Daylight Saving.

Saskatoon, Sask.—A plebiscite will be held in Saskatoon on June 1 to decide on daylight saving for the present summer.

Berlin.—The Reichstag accepted the Allied ultimatum by a vote of 221 to 175, thus yielding to the final demands of the Allied Powers, and in so doing, agreed to fulfil the terms of the Treaty of Versailles "to the capacity of the nation to do so."

Dr. Wirth, Centrist leader, finally succeeded in forming a coalition cabinet, composed of Centrists, Majority Socialists and Democrats, which confronted by grave necessity, speedily decided that acceptance of the ultimatum was the only course.

In making this announcement the new chancellor asked for an immediate decision, and in the voting, which followed, the Government was sustained. The Allied ultimatum required a definite reply, based on "Yes" or "No." No conditional reply would be entertained, and its ultimatum was formulated to expire on the night of May 12.

Berlin.—The Reichstag assembled at 9 o'clock and Dr. Wirth announced the formation of a new cabinet, with himself as chancellor and foreign minister.

London.—Germany's unconditional acceptance of the Entente reparation terms was delivered to Prime Minister Lloyd George by Dr. Stamer, German minister to Great Britain, here.

Dr. Stamer handed the German reply to the Prime Minister, and Mr. Lloyd George immediately telegraphed the news to all the Governments concerned.

Berlin.—Germany's reply to the allied ultimatum accepting the terms laid down by the Allied Supreme Council in London, is confined to a repetition of the exact terms of the decisions of the Allies with regard to guarantees, disarmament, the trial of war criminals, and financial conditions. The reply states that Germany adheres unconditionally to these decisions.

This reply was sent to the Allied capitals, for transmission to the heads of the Allied Governments, after the Cabinet, headed by Dr. Wirth, the new Chancellor, had received what amounted to a vote of confidence in the Reichstag.

Prospectors Going North To Seek Lost Gold In Old River Bed

Somewhere in the big bend of the Peace River, bisected by a line drawn from Fort St. John to the mouth of the Battle River, is an old river bed where the Peace once flowed, and to locate this ancient waterway prospectors are outfitting in Edmonton. Some have already gone in, including Jack Turner, late of the Yukon, while a number are preparing their packs for the journey. Several men from the gold fields of Alaska have reached Edmonton within the past few days, and the report of the mystic El Dorado north of the Peace having reached their ears, they also are en route to try their luck in the country north of the Clear Hills.

This minor stampede is the direct result of a story circulated amongst the old timers of the north country, the truth of which will doubtless be solved during the coming season. Here is the tale. Some years ago an Indian coming into Fort St. John from the country to the northeast of the post picked up a fair sized gold nugget which he discovered in a stream. Following this an old trapper, a white man, who made Fort St. John his rendezvous, came in to the Fort with a quantity of coarse gold which he had washed from some stream in a similar direction to that from which the Indian hailed.

Thereafter the old fellow gave up trapping and lived on the fat of the land, in care-free idleness at the post. Whenever his supplies of necessities ran low, he hitched his dogs to the sleigh and disappeared, but in a few days was back again with a fresh supply of gold.

This continued for a number of years, but late overtook the old man and one day his body was found on the trail frozen stiff. He still has a large credit account in the books of the H.B.C.

It is said by the northmen that the only time when gold was available was when there was a heavy fall of snow, with which the old fellow apparently washed his mineral, when he had melted the white blanket into water. From an analysis of the circumstances generally, it is thought that the place from which the gold was taken was some old river bed, where the Peace once flowed, but whether the story is correct or not remains to be proved. Prospectors, however, are putting up good money to test the truth of the theory that the precious metal does exist somewhere to the north of Clear Hills in large quantities. Many men have prospected the country previously, in the endeavor to locate the old man's secret which died with him, but so far without success.

Miners possessing technical knowledge, claim that there is undoubtedly gold in paying quantities along the Peace, colors can be obtained in many places but not in sufficient quantity to provide pay dirt.

It is stated by an old H.B.C. man from the region of the Upper Peace that during the rush to the Klondyke, that two men washing on the river found a bar from which they took a large quantity of gold. They went no further north, but returned to Winnipeg, with the intention of exploiting their find.

When they finally returned to the Peace country, they were unable to locate the bar from which the gold had been obtained, and it is thought that a slide from a cut bank on the other side of the river lodged in the stream, and deflecting the current, caused the bar on which they had been working to be carried off by the flood water.

The government party under Engineer Lynch which is to put down test holes along the Upper Peace this summer is being eagerly watched by prospectors, and it is stated that a number of the latter are going north to see for themselves the result of these operations, as amongst prospectors the theory is general that gold exists in large quantities on the upper reaches of the big river.

The art of wicker-weaving has been a hand industry for more than 5,000 years.

Canadians As Empire Builders

Playing Important Part In Development of British West Africa.

Canadians are playing an important part in the development of British West Africa. A Canadian, Major-Gen. Guggisberg, is governor of the Gold Coast. General Guggisberg is a native of Oakville, Ont., and served with distinction in the British army during the war. It was Lloyd Harris, as head of the Canadian mission in London who brought Gen. Guggisberg and Major-Gen. Stewart, of railway fame, together. As a result Gen. Stewart, who was commander of transportation in France, has been awarded a contract for the construction of a great modern harbor at Tagordi, the chief port of the district, and for the building of thousands of miles of railways to tap various portions of this part of Africa. The work will take from three to six years to complete and already some 30 engineers, construction superintendents and physicians, nearly all Canadians associated with Gen. Stewart in France, have left for Tagordi. The Gold Coast is said to be one of the richest portions of Africa, with great manganese iron mines, mahogany, cotton, rubber, gold, oil, etc.—London Free Press.

Negress Wins Big Suit

Ownership of Rich Oil Lands Decided In Her Favor.

Lillie Taylor is probably the wealthiest negro woman in the United States as a result of a decision handed down in the state supreme court of Louisiana, decreeing her to be the rightful owner of a big tract of land in the southwest section of Claiborne parish, New Orleans, enormously rich in oil and gas deposits, and the value of which runs into the millions.

The question of her ownership hinged on whether or not an illegitimate child can inherit from its parents, article 238 of the civil code declaring that illegitimate children "belong to no family and have no relatives." During years that the suit was dragging in the courts the value of the land and its products steadily grew up into the millions, until now, when Lillie Taylor has finally been declared the owner of the lands, of the oil on it and of the oil in tanks and pipes that have taken it from the land, it is estimated at a fabulous figure.

It is reported that attorneys for Lillie Taylor are to receive a fee of upward of $450,000 for their services.

The Idle Young

Large Number Are Unemployed in United Kingdom.

An attempt is to be made to mitigate the grave danger attending the presence of the large numbers of unemployed juveniles who throng London's streets. At present 107,600 of these "young persons" are registered as unemployed in the United Kingdom.

The Minister of Labor has issued regulations by which attendance at approved courses of instruction may be made a condition for the receipt of unemployment benefit.

British Coolness Will Right Troubles.

Among the passengers arriving on the Canadian Pacific steamer Metagama, were Sir George and Lady Parkin. Alluding to the present conditions in Great Britain, Sir George expressed his opinion that there was no cause for alarm, but that the national coolness of character and stability of temperament might be relied upon to right all the troubles that surround the nation at present.

Fort Norman Oil Find Is Outstanding Event

Officials Issue Warning However Against Mushroom Companies.

"Present indications are," says a statement issued by the department of mines, "that the reported discovery of oil below Fort Norman on the MacKenzie River may prove to be one of the outstanding events of the mining industry of Canada."

Officials of the department emphasize, however, that "the indiscriminate purchase of stock in many of the mushroom oil companies that are being formed with the avowed purpose of acquiring petroleum claims in the MacKenzie River basin cannot be commended. Prospecting for oil under the best conditions is extremely hazardous and only trained geologists can properly carry out such work. The haphazard staking of claims for speculative purposes is to be discouraged, and it will likely be found later on that the great majority of these claims, acquired merely in the hope that could be turned over to companies prepared to sink wells, will be left on the hands of the speculators with resultant heavy loss to the unfortunate stock holders."

Sir James Loughheed, minister of mines, announces publication of a revised edition of the departmental report on the MacKenzie River basin. Inquiries are being received by the department from all parts of the world.

Captain Saves Ship From Waterspout

Steam Siren Used As Last Resort Proved Successful.

Capt. Avery, of the Ward liner Esperanza, reports that between Progreso, Yucatan, and Savannah, a week ago, the Esperanza lookout sighted a waterspout a mile high, several miles astern of the boat, but rapidly overhauling the ship. Capt. Avery tried to escape it but when he zigzagged the ship, the spout also zigzagged to the ship. For two hours this went on, the spout always one turn astern of the Esperanza.

At last the resourceful skipper brought himself of the steam siren and blew a blast at full boiler pressure, and presto, the air vibration caused by the whistle jiggled the spout so severely that it took a dead fall into the sea and the ship was saved.

Entente Denies Receipt of New Plans

The Demand Is Growing In The British Market For Canadian Cattle

Radium Is Lost In Mysterious Manner

Authorities at Hospital Decline to Give Any Information.

Radium valued at several hundreds of pounds, belonging to the Sheffield Royal Infirmary, has disappeared mysteriously.

The authorities at the hospital—a voluntary institution, supported by public subscriptions—decline to give any information beyond the fact that the loss is "due to the unfortunate error of certain people."

The radium is stored and prepared for medical purposes at the University of Sheffield, and then transferred to the hospital.

A search among the city's ashes with a special apparatus is stated to be contemplated.

In 1914 a quantity of radium worth about £1,000, which had fallen on the floor of a ward in the Royal Infirmary at Liverpool, was recovered from a dust cart. It was located in the cart by Professor Wilberforce with an electroscope. The contents of the cart were then put into buckets by the hospital radiologist, and the buckets were sent one by one to the professor. The twelfth bucket contained the radium.

Constructed Propellers From Crude Material

Engineer in Frozen North Used Dog Sleigh Boards and Elk Hide Glue.

With a few dog sleigh boards, glue made from raw moose hide and some crude blacksmith tools, W. A. Johnson, a Hudson's Bay Company steamboat engineer at Fort Simpson in the sub-arctic, constructed propellers with which one of the two all-metal Imperial Oil Company airplanes recently returned from Simpson to Peace River. The story is told this month in The Beaver Magazine of the Hudson's Bay Company. The flying freighters broke their propellers at Simpson last month on their way to the Fort Norman fields and but for the emergency repairs made by Mr. Johnson both of the machines would have been stranded until the opening of navigation on Slave Lake, about July 1.

The Beaver's correspondent, an eye-witness, states that both machines crashed at Fort Simpson, smashing their big propellers. Wooden skis, which had been substituted for the usual wheels, gave way under one of the machines as it came down on a four-foot snowbank. The second plane, with four men, endeavored to continue the trip next day to Fort Norman. It had just taken the air when one ski dipped and the plane was spread-eagled on the snow with a broken under carriage and a splintered propeller. None of the occupants suffered injury.

The Water Spider.

A correspondent describes a peculiar spider that lives under water the greater part of its life. It builds a dome-like nest of silk among weeds in ponds and ditches, and fills the nest with air. In that strange house it lives and lays its eggs. In autumn it makes another nest at a greater distance below the surface of the water, and, having sealed itself inside, it sleeps until spring. Taken out of the water, the spider looks like any other, but as soon as it is put back the bubble of air that it collect around its body makes it look like a ball of quicksilver. It is the only spider that has taken to a wholly aquatic life, says the writer.—Country Life.

Another Monster Egg.

A Plymouth Rock hen, owned by Louis Laporte, of Somerset, has entered the field as competitor for the honor of laying the largest egg. The Winnipeg Free Press received a specimen of this fowl's ambitious effort—an egg measuring 9 1/4 inches around its longest circumference and 7 1/4 inches around the middle.

"There is a steadily-growing demand for fat Canadian cattle in the English market, despite the embargo and the fact that it costs approximately $100 to ship a steer from Western Canada to England and pay for its slaughter within ten days of landing."

This statement was made by John Burns, general manager of the P. Burns Company, Ltd. In speaking of the English market, Mr. Burns said that for the past twelve years there had been no demand. Now, in spite of the very high freight rates, both from here to the seaboard and across the Atlantic; despite the fact that Canadian cattle arriving in England must be for "immediate slaughter; this market was developing and the demand exists."

"There is actually a shortage of fat cattle in Western Canada at the present time to take advantage of this opportunity," said Mr. Burns.

Within the last few years the marketing conditions for cattle in the west have been undergoing a great change. This has been brought about by the transition from the period of the big ranches to the conditions of today. The country is now more thickly settled and individuals hold smaller acreage. Not many years ago the big rancher was the predominating figure. Vast acreage, most of it held under lease, gave him a domain on which cattle could be run by the thousands. Under such conditions it was natural that the marketing would naturally take place at one time in the year. As a result the great bulk of stock were sold to the packers in the months of September, October and November. It is evident even to the layman that this produced an unhealthy market condition. It meant that the packers were loaded up with stock at one period of the year, and received little during the other nine months. A glutted market and a fall in prices were almost always the result.

But with the settling of the country the big cattle ranches have gradually disappeared. More intensive cultivation has been followed by more numerous small herds of cattle and brought a better finished product to the market. Today the cry of many of the big men in Western Canadian farming is for even smaller farms. Gradually the market is being fed as the demand occurs. Mr. Burns hopes that the time is coming when there will be a steady marketing of cattle over the greater part of the year. This will mean less fluctuation in prices and better conditions for the farmer, packer and consumer.

The man who held on to breeding hogs, said Mr. Burns, would find himself in the best position eventually. Previous to the war-bacon imported to the English market ranked in this order: Irish, Danish, Canadian, American. At the present time there is almost an equal demand for Irish and Canadian bacon. Little Danish bacon is coming in and the American product has lost much of its reputation owing to carelessness in preparation. There is a constant demand from English buyers for Western Canadian bacon and it cannot be filled today.

Although live shipments are being made to England at present and are being disposed of at some profit, conditions are far from favorable. In approximate figures it costs $30 to ship an animal from Calgary to the seaboard, $60 for ocean freight, and $10 for slaughtering and other charges on arrival. Rates like these make it unwise to ship anything but the very best finished cattle. Stockmen say that the animals generally pick up at least some of the weight lost in the train journey and during the sea passage.

No distress or inconvenience attends the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are famous for their mildness and efficiency. For headache, biliousness, indigestion and liver complaint, Dr. Hamilton's Pills are just what you need. Thousands maintain their health by regulating frequently with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Montreal.

Prepared For Anything. Murdering a dying man in the presence of a priest, who was administering the last sacrament is the latest outrage credited to the Sinn Feiners. But there have been so many preceding ones of similar tenor that the public is prepared for anything in that line.—Hamilton Spectator.

Vancouver's Successful Shipping Year

Harbor Board Reports Big Business Done In 1920.

According to the report of the Harbor Board, Vancouver had a most successful shipping year in 1920. During the year 644,403 passengers passed in and out of the port, 50,300 being Trans-Pacific passengers, and the remainder being on coastwise steamers. In the twelve months 11,449 coastwise steamers with a tonnage of 4,441,316 tons entered the harbor, whilst the deep sea tonnage to call included 336 ships with a net tonnage of 1,163,699. During the last three months of the year 136,000,000 feet of logs entered the harbor, and 25,000,000 feet of lumber were exported by water. Greeks Reject Settlement

Allies Offered Generous Reward for Services During War.

A settlement by negotiation was offered to the Greeks which rewarded them for their services to the Allied generous lines. It was rejected. cause during the war on more than With an overweening confidence in themselves, which nobody shared, the Greeks set out to satisfy all their demands by force. They have succeeded in getting hard knocks. There will be no sympathy for them in their disappointment, and when their quarrel with the Turks again becomes the subject of negotiation they must not be surprised if the conditions of settlement are less favorable to them than those they spurned.—London Daily Express.

Resume Cattle Trade With Cardiff.

Cardiff is the only port in the British Channel licensed for admission of cattle for immediate slaughter and a Canadian ship with a consignment of Canadian cattle is due here early in May. MUCH ILL HEALTH DUE TO BAD BLOOD

If the Blood is Kept Rich and Red You Will Enjoy Health.

More disturbances to health is caused by weak, watery blood than most people have any idea of. When your blood is impoverished, the nerves suffer from lack of nourishment and you may be troubled with insomnia, neuritis, neuralgia or sciatica. Muscles subject to strain are under-nourished and you may have muscular rheumatism or lumbago. If your blood is thin and you begin to show symptoms of any of these disorders try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills have a special action on the blood and as it becomes enriched your health improves. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is proved by the experience of Mr. D. J. McDonald, North River Bridge, N.S., who says: "For some years I suffered severely with headaches, pains in the back and a run-down condition. At times the pain in my back would be so bad that I would sit up in bed all night. From time to time doctors were treating me, but did not give me more than temporary relief. And then one day when I was suffering terribly a neighbor came to see me, and urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking two boxes I felt relief. I got five boxes more and before they were all gone I felt as though they were giving me new life, as in every way they built up and improved my health and strength. I am now working as a barker in a pulp mill, ten hours a day and feeling none the worse after my day's work. I say with pleasure that this condition is due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Summer Coat Of Navy Tussah

By Marie Belmont.

A silk coat is almost a necessity when dainty frocks are worn on cool summer days. This model is made of navy blue tussah, a silk that is not only smart-looking but thoroughly practical for all sorts of wear. This coat is designed with a generous, rolling collar which on occasion may be folded up more closely round the neck. A novel trimming appears upon it for tiny pompons of white silk are patterned upon the front, collar and cuffs. The narrow belt is fastened with two small roses made from the silk. The hat with jaunty up-turned brim is decorated in the same manner as the coat.

Work and Play.

Do not try to avoid work, but seek to find work that is congenial. Nothing in life brings such satisfaction as congenial work, honestly and well done. There is a measure of truth in the saying that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. It is still more emphatically true that all play and no work makes Jack a useless member of society, a nuisance and a nobody.—Orillia Packet.

Externally or Internally, it is Good.

When applied externally by brisk rubbing, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil opens the pores and penetrates the tissues, touching the seat of the trouble and immediately affording relief. Administered internally, it will still the irritation in the throat which induces coughing and will relieve affections of the bronchial tubes and respiratory organs. Try it and be convinced.

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house

"My little girl's trouble started with small pimples on the back of her head and they spread down her back. The pimples were hard and red and they itched and burned terribly. She scratched and irritated them and they later developed into sore eruptions. Her hair fell out and became thin and dry, and scales fell off on her clothing."

"I used a free sample of Cuticura and the pimples commenced to dry up. I bought more and when I had used one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Alonzo Crawford, 83 Parker St., Bangor, Maine, Jan. 22, 1920.

NONSENSE

The writer of these verses wishes to remain anonymous. We don't blame him either.

It was midnight on the ocean,
Not a street car was in sight;
The sun was shining brightly
And it rained all day that night.

It was a Summer day in Winter,
The rain was snowing fast
A Barefoot Boy with shoes on,
Stood sitting on the grass.

It was evening and the rising sun
Was setting in the West,
And the little fishes in the trees,
Were huddled in their nests.

The rain was pouring down
The moon was shining bright,
And everywhere that you could see
Was hidden out of sight.

While the organ Peeled Potatoes
Lard was rendered by the Choir,
While the Sexton rang the Dishrag
Someone set the Church on fire.

"Holy Smoke" preacher
shouted

In the rain he lost his hair,
Now his head resembles Learen
For there is no parting there.
